

Lisa Hinterreithner is a performance artist, who lives in Vienna, Austria. In her works she intertwines bodies and materials and is on the lookout for experimental performance formats that address humans and more than humans likewise. She often invites the audience, performers and objects to be part of a joint performative process. Recently she has explored touch and touchability, specifically between plants and humans. Lisa Hinterreithner's performances have been shown among others, at Tanzquartier Wien, donaufestival Krems, ImPulsTanz – Vienna International Dance Festival, Galerie 5020, Sommerszene - SZENE Salzburg, as well as in Germany, Denmark and the UK. She is a regular lecturer for Performance and Performance Research at the Dance Academy SEAD in Salzburg, at the Danish National School of Performing Arts in Copenhagen and at the Academy of Fine Arts in Vienna. Lisa Hinterreithner takes part in the transmedia research project Stoffwechsel – Ökologien der Zusammenarbeit' at Im_flieger in Vienna.
